Its non-arrival is holding up moving operations. The rest of the fixtures and equipment are in place and as soon as the safe arrives, the postoffice will be moved into the new building at the corner of Buford and Factory streets.

BIG LICENSE DAY

Last Saturday was a busy day in the Elba probate office. Beginning Saturday morning, lines of applicants for driver's licenses were formed clear out in the hall and three or four clerks were kept busy handling the rush. It was stated Tuesday that approximately 1400 driver licenses had been issued up to that time from the Elba office.

DOTHAN APPROVES GAS

Dothan voters, in a light vote, approved the awarding of a franchise to Southern Alabama Gas District for the sale of natural gas to Dothan. The franchise was awarded to T. T. Throver, who was unopposed to another three-year term on the city commission. The gas franchise referendum was an unofficial stage and determined sentiment on the issue. Opposition to the natural gas franchise developed with two Dothan liquefied petroleum dealers branding the proposed gas district as socialist and declared that their products are cheaper than natural gas.

Dothan was the only city in the 14-member gas district to hold a referendum on the gas franchise issue.

Elba Jaycees canvassers who recently made a survey of this city report that they found little opposition to the proposed natural gas franchise here.

ORPHAN CHICK

A chick was hatched in the barn lot of W. P. Foley, Curtis last week without the benefit of a mother hen. Mr. Foley reported. The egg was found in the lot with the little chick just coming out. Mr. Foley said he never could possible have been up there to set on the egg.

Heat from hay in the lot and incubated the egg. The Curtis farmer believes. When the chick broke out of the egg, it was given to a baby hen who is as fond of her adopted offspring as if she had hatched the egg herself.

LICENSES DUE

Licenses for businesses, stores, automobile and drivers are due or coming due. Harold English, deputy clerk in the probate office, said this week. Businesses and store owners are required to get privilege licenses starting Oct. 1 and have until Oct. 31 before they become delinquent.

Auto tags go on sale Oct. 1 and have to be purchased by Nov. 15. Drivers licenses are on sale without a penalty through October.

Gas Survey Nearing Finish

Time to sign up for natural gas is running out. Willard Martin, Jaycees chairman in charge of the drive, said this week. According to instructions from the engineering company running the survey, final tabulations from Elba have to be posted by Oct. 1.

For the past two weeks members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have been contacting residents and store owners to see how many were interested in using natural gas when it comes through Elba next fall. Willard Martin asks that all residents who haven't been reached and

Rents Decontrolled

Glennwood J. Sherrard, Director of Defense Rental Areas Division, Office of Defense Mobilization, announced today that effective September 18, 1953, the defense housing areas of Bainbridge, Elton, Maryland, Fort Knox, Kentucky, and the remaining portion of Camp Rucker, Alabama, would be decontrolled.

This action is the result of recommendations he has received from the local Rent Advisory Boards or local governing officials in the communities involved, stating that the demand for rental housing has been reasonably met.

Coffee Countian Sold on Merits of Cotton Picking Machine

By PAUL CUNNINGHAM
For the first time this year West Coffee County has had a chance to observe closely what a mechanical cotton picker will do in this season—one near Pine Level and the other on the place of Shelby Deal in Brooklynn community, Kinross, Ala.

The mechanical picker has made a convert of Shelby Deal who has 150 acres of cotton this year. Briefly, he says getting the cotton from the field to the gin is quicker, cheaper and easier with his machine than it would have been getting it hand-picked.

Speed of the picker is compared by the Coffee Countian this way with labor. An International Harvester machine averages a little over four bales of cotton a day on land that yields somewhat over half a bale per acre. This is the equivalent of about 30 hands could pick in the same time, Mr. Deal estimated.

DID NOT DEFOOLIATE
Knocking the leaves off the cotton weed was not done this season by the Coffee Countian. He said the spinners don't get many leaves and then the worm-shed just about eaten all the leaves off anyway. He has not had any trouble with stain in his cotton.

The picker allows green bales to go on through the machine. Earlier in the season a field 50% open was picked. This week Mr. Deal plans to go back over it.

Grading of the cotton picked so far has been 1/4 to 1 cent off middling. All Mr. Deal's bales have brought 33c while middling brings 34c.

After deprecating as figured, gins oil, repairs and wages of the two men on the machine, the owner believes it costs him $20 per bale to pick his cotton. Using labor would run the cost up to around $80, Mr. Deal estimates. When he was using hired hands to pick the cotton last year, it meant two trips a day to Elba to pick up the cotton pickers and return them. There was the problem of feeding and paying $1.00 for every 100 pounds of cotton picked.

So thoroughly sold is the Coffee Countian, on the mechanical picker that he believes it would be profitable for a man with 75 acres or more of cotton by the middling. All Mr. Deal's bales have brought 33c while middling brings 34c.

When asked if he would use his machine, Mr. Deal said yes as soon as his own cotton is picked. He said he would be through with his field about Sept. 30 and then could pick for neighboring farmers at about one half the cost of labor and make money for both the farmer and himself.

Plans for using the mechanical picker were made early this spring by the Brooklynn community leader. After ordering the machine, he planted the cotton for the picker by "hilling it up" slightly on each row. Then grass was kept down during the growing season. The cotton was picked thick. Experience this season taught him the machine was best on cotton with a big weed so next year he will use a lot of nitrogen to get growth of the cotton as close to the ground. Getting a big weed growth eliminates this to a big extent.

Approximate 5% of the cotton is left on the ground or on the weed after the machine passes over a row. Mr. Deal estimates. Close examination of the cotton left showed it consisted mainly of hard or poorly developed bolls that could not when the cotton is graded.

HOW IT WORKS
Cotton entering the head of the machine goes through two

TRAVIS BOWERS GETS BROKEN RIB

The first Elba Tiger casualty of the season occurred late in the Elba-Andalusia game when Travis Bowers, stellar guard, suffered a broken rib. He performed brilliantly previous to his injury. In fact, in commenting on the game Saturday morning, Coach Francis Buckner said he believes Bowers was the most outstanding player of the game.

Bowers will probably be out of the game against Lurven Friday night, but his injury is not too serious and it is thought he will be ready to resume his old part within a week or two.

Ellis King Killed in Accident

Ellis King, one of Elba's best known and highly esteemed citizens was killed in an automobile-truck collision Monday forenoon at the west end of the Crockettwhatchee River Bridge, about 14 miles west of Dothan.

It is reported that Mr. King and his wife were returning from Dothan when a dump truck driven by Albert Rudy Mills of Dothan with a fire blowout caused the truck to swerve and collide with the King car. The car got out of control and was overturned after traveling a distance of about 324 feet.

Mr. King was thrown from the car and sustained injuries from which he died in Enterprise hospital at 12:40 p.m. The truck belonged to Smith Sand and Gravel Company of Dothan.

Mrs. Lora King, 43, received a crushed shoulder and other painful injuries but is reported to be resting satisfactorily in Enterprise hospital. It is thought she will recover.

Interment was in Evergreen cemetery, Hayes Funeral Home directing.

Mrs. Robert Cooper has taken a position as secretary in the office of Sam J. Casey, superintendent of Elba schools.

Mrs. Cooper is brushing up on her shorthand by practicing with the school class in that department.

POSTOFFICE EQUIPMENT
The long-awaited fixtures and equipment for Elba's new Postoffice have arrived with the exception of the large safe. They are being installed as rapidly as possible in the room recently completed by the Taylor Interests, at the corner of Factory and Buford streets.

The fixtures are made of solid oak and are attractive and durable. Postmaster L. W. English said Tuesday that there are 297 new lock boxes which will be adequate for the demand. For several years there has been a shortage of boxes. He said there will be some extra large boxes to take care of the larger firms, mail and plenty of other double-size.

Postmaster English said as soon as the safe arrives he will be ready to move, which he hopes will be not later than sometime this week. He said the moving operations will not be adequate for the demand. For several years there has been a shortage of boxes. He said there

The new room is spacious and designed according to the Postoffice Department's requirements.

A feature of the new building is the indoor space at the rear of the postoffice room where mail trucks will be protected from the elements. Rural route carriers will go and come through the rear entrance, Postmaster English stated.

GRASSLAND FARMING AND PEANUT PRODUCTION

By H. S. SAUCIER

Peanut farmers in the Wiregrass and throughout South Alabama are bringing grassland farming and peanut production together. They are wondering if growing grass on their land for a year or more before planting peanuts won't solve some of the problems they face each year in growing peanuts in this season. This idea of growing grass in the land before planting peanuts has been going around quite a bit during the past year. Several farmers became interested to the extent they plowed up fields that were in grass and last spring and disease infestation peanut land planted peanuts there this year. These farmers are quite enthusiastic about the idea. They have been talking about the idea of grass for one or two years then back to peanuts for a couple years to the extent of creating considerable interest in this matter.

As a result of all this grass-peanut business, a number of farmers in Coffee County said they were going to try this new way of growing peanuts on their farm. These farmers said they are going to plant rescue grass on their peanut land just as soon as they finish digging peanuts. The rescue grass will be turned under early next spring in time to plant there next year. It's just like a farmer put it a few days ago. He said he had been hearing and reading all about what a fine thing it was to put your land in grass for a few years and now and then to let it "rest-up," so to speak. He thought this was a good idea. He figures if any land needs a rest from plowing, erosion and disease infestation peanut land certainly does.

It's an easy matter to plant a winter grass like rescue on your peanut land. Just sow about twenty-five pounds of rescue grass seed per acre after dug peanuts. Plant the grass seeds any time from the middle of September to November 1st.

Early planting will give best results. Sow the seeds broadcast, disk in lightly and use a cult-packer to firm the land after disking. There should not be any difficulty in getting a stand of rescue grass if good seeds are used. Rescue grass is similar to oats in that the seeds will not germinate until the land has sufficient moisture. When the grass comes up, apply one hundred pounds of ammonium nitrate or its equivalent per acre broadcast. Then let the grass grow. If you want to plant peanuts on this land next year, turn the grass under late February or early March. Then plant your peanuts in the usual way. Rescue grass is not turf forming like ryegrass. You will not have any trouble turning rescue under and preparing your land for peanuts. If you have been reading about grassland farming and have decided to try it on your farm, rescue grass planted after dug peanuts is a simple and easy way for you to give it a trial. Remember there are indications that grass on the land for a while will help decrease in your soil, add much needed organic matter and improve the physical structure of your soil. All this will increase the amount of water your soil can take up when it rains. Moisture in your land is very important for crop production and erosion control.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

A great glaring inconsistency noted by Washington observers is that so often a mighty hue and cry is raised over a huge problem, yet no attention is given to the solution right at hand.

As example, during tax haste, statement was made that it may even be necessary to raise the national debt limit by the end of the year, so serious is the nation's financial plight.

Yet, Cong. C. W. Harder, Republican of New York's 27th District, whose views are often circulated by the Committee for Constitutional Government, firmly believes at least $47 billion could be tapped from national debt right now.

As one item, he points to Public Housing, stating in past 19 years, the public has been saddled with a 40-year mortgage totalling $20 billion dollars.

Congressman Gwin marshals many facts about public, low rent housing projects. Removal of property from local tax rolls creates a burden on local government. He also cites the apparent fact that only the politically appointed can secure this low rental housing.

Only families below a certain income are supposed to be eligible for the rentals which are about half the prevailing rental market, yet in one case a tenant with a $24,000 per year income was found; in another case the mayor of Birmingham, Alabama was a public housing tenant.

But while the scandals are bad, Congressman Gwin has not yet commented on the most interesting fact.

While the property would probably not be worth the full $20 billion bid from taxpayers, a strong possibility is felt that sales to private operators should return more than half.

This reasoning is based on the fact that a fair portion of this housing was prewar built, some during the war, only a portion built during the postwar inflated cost period.

Therefore, at present day values, it is conceivable that a part of the housing could be sold for considerably more than it cost to build, despite bureaucratic waste, and that a big loss would only be taken on property built during postwar period. Such a move would slash $10 billion from national debt and save untold millions in interest and administration. It is common business practice to take a loss to avoid further losses, a principle presumed understood by an administration self-proclaimed as businessmen.

Congressman Gwin also believes that the government could reduce the national debt $27 billion by selling the Tennessee Valley Authority, or TVA.

Because consideration of this issue is bound to be highly controversial, it will be treated in the next column.

Public Housing Authority has built somewhere around 600,000 family dwelling units. This means, based on Congressional figures of 10 million dollars, that public housing has cost somewhere around $40,000 per family unit. Thus it becomes plain government has no business in real estate business.

If Public Housing Authority property was sold to the highest bidder, competent real estate operators would undoubtedly find attractive investments.

While the property would probably not be worth the full $20 billion bid from taxpayers, a strong possibility is felt that sales to private operators should return more than half.

Well, school has started and we're all back in harness again. In fact Mr. Casey says he has the biggest family in the country—1100 students.

School began with a bang: A football game the first week with Brantley, hand practice every day, cheerleader practice and organization of all activities.

This year there are no new faculty members. Mrs. McCullough, Mrs. Bucklow and Mrs. Collier are teaching speech, dancing, and music respectively. Mrs. Bucklow was with us last year, but this is the first year that Mrs. McCullough and Mrs. Collier have taught in the school. The same teachers who ended the last term have begun this new session. Mrs. Spurlin who formerly taught in elementary school has been moved to high school.

Jack Parker played an outstanding defensive game against the Andalusia Bulldogs last Friday night. His tackling dropped opposing backs many times before they registered any gain in yardage.

Elba Beats Andalusia, 13-0

In spite of threatening rain, the Elba Tigers defeated a stubborn team of Andalusia Bulldogs Friday night at Elba stadium by a score of 13 to 0 before a crowd of approximately 2,000 fans.

It was Elba's second victory without defeat, having won over Brantley the preceding Friday night, 28-6.

The Bulldogs started with a rush and played the Tigers off their feet for the first few minutes. They returned Charles Ellis' kickoff to the 35 yard line and by a series of four first downs, got the ball down to Elba's 8. At this point the Tiger line showed its caliber and terrific tackles by Prescott and Bowers caused the Bulldog ball carrier a fumble and the Tigers recovered. Using a pitchout and several passes, they marched down the field to the Andalusia 20.

At this point Jacobs heaved a pass to right and Powell gathered it in and ran for a touchdown. The try for extra point was unsuccessful.

The second and third quarters were played on even footing, but Elba did manage to push the ball to the Andalusia five yards line in the third period. The Tigers lacked the necessary power to score and lost the ball on downs. It was a fine exhibition of stonewall defense by the Bulldog line.

LONG RUN BY JACOBS

Jacobs set up the second Tiger touchdown in the fourth quarter as he fought his way through the Bulldog line for a gain of 40 yards, where he was forced out of bounds on the three yard line. It was a spectacular exhibition of good blocking and deerfoot running.

Mack Wise went over on the next play. Marlin Dyess, Elba's wee mite quarterback, added the extra point and the Tigers had won the game, 13-0.

Coaches Buckner and Gaither fielded the same starting lineup as the week before: Ends, Rol and Powell and Charles Ellis; Tackles, Jack Parker and Billy Poole; guards, Travis Bowers and Thomas Prescott; center, Andy Kinney; quarterback, Marlin Dyess; halfbacks, Harry Jacobs

LINE DOES WELL

Coach Buckner said he was especially pleased with the performance of the Tiger line. Standouts on defense were: Ellis, Prescott, Bowers, Newton, Poole, Powell, Folsom and Hamm. The whole Andalusia line played good ball.

Perhaps the two Elba kicking stars, Charles Ellis and Robert Newton, should be given special notice. Ellis' kickoffs were long and high and made it difficult for Bulldog returns. Newton's punt were well placed and averaged better than 35 yards. Both kickers showed much improvement over the previous game.

Coach Buckner said it is seldom that high school kickers and punters receive due credit, but they are two of the most important players in a football game.

Ellis' interception of a Bulldog pass deep in Elba territory was a feature of the game and probably headed off a serious threat.

It came late in the final quarter and put a quietus on Bulldog hopes.

Both teams were penalized quite severely but the Tigers were by far the worst sufferers. Several chances to score were nullified by 15-yard penalties at the hands of the referee.

LUVERNE FRIDAY

The third home game is scheduled to be played at Elba stadium Friday night, Luverne High being the Tigers' opponents. Although Luverne has lost its first two games, to Clayton and Georgianna, Coach Buckner said Monday that the Luverne team has some star players who may give the Tigers trouble. He warns his players not to take the Luverne eleven lightly. He said one of the most serious things a football coach has to contend with is overconfidence on the part of his players. The kickoff will be at eight o'clock.
